How it works at checkout

|                       |                                                                                                                                     |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Before you pay | Tell the budtender you would like to use loyalty points. Your customer profile and available balance must be connected to the sale. |
| At checkout    | The POS shows how many points can be used. Store minimums, maximums, exclusions, and point value may apply.                         |
| After payment  | Your receipt shows points redeemed, points earned, and your updated balance when the store loyalty program is active.               |

The more eligible purchases you make, the more rewards you can build!

Good to know

| Program details varyEach store chooses its own earning rate, point value, redemption minimum, and per-order maximum. | Some purchases may not qualifyItems, discounts, promotions, taxes, or other charges may be excluded depending on store rules. |
| Points are linked to your profileUse the same customer profile each visit so your balance stays together.            | Ask before checkout is completedLoyalty redemption should be selected before the payment is finalized.                        |

Ask your store team about today's loyalty earning and redemption rules.
